Dynamical evolution of Centaurs

N. Kovalenko[1], R. Guliyev[2], and K. Churyumov[1]

[1]Astronomical Observatory of Kiev National Tarasse Shevchenko University, Ukraine
[2]Shemakha Astronomical Observatory, Azerbaijan

We present the results of dynamical evolution modeling of the Centaur population. There are 118 such objects currently known in the space between Jupiter and Neptune. The orbital integrations for 1 Gyr forward and backward in time from the present were performed. The SWIFTER integrator package was used. General results for population and interesting individual paths as well as resonances are discussed.